NEW YORKISMS.

THE PROPERTY OF THE PARTY OF TH

From Our Own Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15. This morning I counted no less than one hundred and fourteen advertisements under the head of "Education," in the Tribune. The schools are opening with a vengeance. Within ten days or two weeks the advertisements will all have dropped out one by one. It is amusing to read some of them. Indeed, when other departments of a newspaper fall to amuse, the advertising department can be safely relied upon. That department probably contains more lies than all the other departments put together. Ye who read the world's life given day after day, and arraign before you in judg ment the various departments which you charge with being filled with canards, do you ever reflect, if you are an advertiser, that you are the father of more misrepresentations than any news-editor or writer of leaders whom you can lay a finger on ? But these remarks, however, are particularly applicable to the educational advertisements in question. Only they promise so much that it is no wonder our boys and girls don't turn out to be the moral compendiums which they are guaranteed to become. The proverb says, Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is od he will not depart from it-which is the same as saying that he will return to first principles when he has sown his wild oats. (No allusion to John Allen is here intended.) Teachers train, or think they train, up children in the way they should go, but the children, particularly New York children, seem to shunt off from the parental track as soon as pater familias, that slow-going locomotion, is out of sight. Of all these one hundred and fourteen advertisementspread out before me, I don't know that I should solicit one of them if I had children of my own Here is a boarding school for ten boys, whose respective fathers, of more or less celebrity, are referred to for recommendation. Here is a semi pary that combines in an unusual degree the choicest home influences with a thorough and accomplished education. Here is a classical, commercial, and military boarding-school, with a separate sleeping apartment for each pupil. Here is an English training school for boys. where the object system is adopted. At the griente family school girls and boys are fed. exercised, and educated physically and mentally, in accordance with the primary law of their being. This institution for young ladies aspires to be a substantial, not a fashionable, school. At the Mount Washington Collegiate Institute "Little Boys" are advertised as watched over with especial kindness and care. The difference between fashiouable and unfashionable instructresses is discovered at a glance, and plain Mrs. and Miss are liberally interspersed with Madame and Madamoiselle. In the masculine advertisements not a hint is given as to the practice of corporeal punishment, and let us, therefore, hope that Solomon, who, for all his wisdom, was a practical fool in some things, has been outwitted in this nineteenth century; or that at least such castigations as are necessary are performed in darkness and secrecy, and that the birch most in vogue at present is Billy Birch of the San Francisco Minstrels.

It would be worse than carrying coals to Newcastle or owls to Athens for me to mention the fact that Mr. George W. Childs, who rans s newspaper called the Philadelphia Public Ledger, is going to buy the Herald for one million dollars in gold! Add to this that old Bennett's stepping out is to be synonymous with the stepping out of Horace Greeley. Old White Hat' who may daily be seen trotting down Broadway with his face like a full moon, and his pockets like a portable newspaper stand, is going to be supplanted by Charles A. Dana, who is going to sink the Sun in the Tribune. I wonder what John Young thinks of all this. I wonder what Mr. England, the hitherto managing editor of the Sun, thinks of it. I wonder whether it's so. I wonder whether, perhaps, there am't just a little humbug in it. I wonder-no, I give up wondering. I sink upon the beach of supineness and wait until another wave of intelligence washes over me.

The Ail-England Eleven, all new men to this country, and the best cricketers that England can produce, arrived at this port on Sauday afternoon, and are stopping now at the Everett House. Yesterday afternoon they spent in practising on the St. George's ground. To-day they will witness the base-ball match between the Mutuals and Unions, at Morrisania. To-morrow they commence their first match on the St. George's grounds against a picked twenty-two of New York and vicinity. On the 22d, they play in Montreal; on the 29th, in Boston. They will then proceed to your city, and remain until October 12.

Each cricketer gets $250 in gold for his services. Their last game in this country will probably be one at base ball, somewhere near the middle of October, after which they will return to England. They contain some of the mos perfect specimens of manly vigor that I have ever laid eyes on.

Something ought to be said about Mademoiselle Irms to prepare Pauladelphia for the proper reception of her when she comes along. She is a blonde with wide, large, dark, beautiful blue eyes, fringed darkly, and heightened in their brilliancy by a tender tint of rouge just above the check bones. Her manner of questioning the will of the audience, of accepting applauseand receiving bouque's, is altogether bewitching, and all the witchery is in her eyes and a corresponding movement of her arms. M. Aujac is a superb specimen of good nature and chivalry. I don't wonder that Niblo's continues so full. A new play called "1868" is to be produced at the New York Theatre. Janauschek has arrived with her Teutonic troupe. Grau's opera bouffe troupe com mences at the Theatre Francaise on October 5, with Genevieve de Brabont. Edwin Forrest commences an engagement at Niblo's, as "Damon." on October 16. Poor fellow! last season he could scarcely drag one leg after the other. What he will do this season I don't know. He has already been electrically treated, but the electricity only seems to patch him up for a time. However, I suppose his genius retains enough lightning to occasionally electrify his audience, or he would not be engaged.

BANKING-HOUSE OF DE HAVEN & BRO.,) No. 40 SOUTH THIRD STREET, PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14, 1868.

THE UNION PACIFIC RAILBOAD.—Having sold a very large amount of the Finst Montgage Bonds of this Company, and being repeatedly asked the question whether or not it is really a first-class road, we determined to satisfy ourselves clearly on that subject, so as to be able to state definitely our opinion. With that object in view, our Hugh De Haven, Jr., went over the entire route, and after spending a week on the line, and examining minutely everything appertaining to it, he reports it A FIRST-CLASS ROAD IN ALL RESPECTS. He accompanied a party of leading editors and gentlemen connected with the Press, who were requested to carefully examine the work and to give their judgment upon its merits, without fear or favor. To furnish full and complete information to our customers, we have caused some extracts from the correspondence of these gentlemen to be put in pamphlet form, which we will iurnish on application. We know that the road is not only being rapidly, but substantially built, and have no doubt that when completed, it will be as perfect a railroad as any in the country, and much superior to many Eastern lines. Its gross earnings for the last year, upon its local business alone, were over Four Million Dollars. The whole line to the Pac.fic will be open next year, when the through business will add very largely to its profits, Our confidence in the value and security of the First Mortgage Bonds of the Company has been increased by our personal examination, and we therefore cordially commend them to the public as one of the safest as well as the most profitable securities we can offer. Subscriptions will be received by us at 101, and accrued interest from July 1, 1868.
